

Residential renewable natural gas enrolment

Renewable natural gas is natural gas but better. That's because the methane gas that's captured comes from organic waste found at local landfills and farms. Before it can escape into the atmosphere as a harmful greenhouse gas, it's captured, cleaned and added to our gas lines – for a sustainable, made-in-B.C. energy source.

By signing up, you'll reduce your environmental footprint and support the growth of sustainable energy in B.C. You'll also have the opportunity to participate in exclusive benefits like contests, supplier tours and more.

For a small cost, you can be assured a portion of your natural gas supports the growth of renewable energy. Join us today, and help stop waste from going to waste.
